Points of Interest

Small waterfall with treasure behind it
Roll on the loot table

Ruins
Weapons Rations Valuables Old world Maybe don't do a full exploration, just roll to search. Make sure the players find something cool/useful so they're not disappointed.

Smaller ruins (not on the tree)

Big tree with ruins on them
Baobab tree Visible from the lake Big tree suddenly grew below a village and carried several houses with it on the way up New world - mana tech can be found here

Lake
Potential express by boat from the lake to the hunting grounds Merchant group - opportunity for trade Archer fish resides in the lake and might spit at you

Hunting grounds
Difficult terrain? Hilly? Burrows? Some sort of elevated plateu? maybe denser growth Larger area where the beast normally hunts prey Cave used as a lair by the beast, could be ambushed here

Mesa

Maze
The group has to solve a physical maze where the amount of navigation skills in the group determines the difficulty of the maze. Use a sheet of paper that overlays the maze with a cutout that represents the parts the party is able to see, which is moved by everyone like a lens on a ouija board. Encounter some desperate person who has become lost in this stone forest, and will probably die if not given food and water. Maybe they're a member of the nomadic lake people.

Creatures

Target Beast
Large (scaled?) jerboa-like creature with jagged carnivorous teeth and long lanky forearms ending in mantis claws

Titan
Giant Quetzalcoatl infused with (lightning? fire?)

Other beasts
Moved to creatures issue

stick bug
